

Tips: Finding Useful Books

- Library of Congress Subject Headings

Like finding the perfect article, finding a great book can make your day! So when you come across an interesting book in a library's Catalog, what's the best way to find more "just like that one" ? By using the Library of Congress Subject Headings!

After starting with your Keyword search, once you've identified a book that you find useful, click on the book's title to go into its record. Scroll down until you see Subject . This is the Subject Heading which the Library of Congress has assigned to books dealing with that particular topic. (Oftentimes, there may be several Subject Headings listed.)

By clicking on the Subject Heading listed (in this case, "Individualized Instruction"), the Catalog will retrieve other books with that same Subject Heading.

- PASCAL Delivers: Visiting Patron

Wish you had access to books from college and university libraries anywhere in S.C.? Well, thanks to a program called "PASCAL Delivers: Visiting Patron," YOU DO!

You can walk into any S.C. college or university library (but not the public library) and check out up to 3 books, regardless of where you are currently attending school, so long as you are currently enrolled at a S.C. college or university.

Ah, but here's the rub: You need to show a Columbia College ID, which some of you may not have had made yet. Consider this, though: If you can come by the CC campus during the week, it might be a good idea to drop by the police station during normal business hours and have an ID made. Call the campus Police Department ahead of time to be sure they can accommodate you: 803.786.3343
